

Enquirer-Southerner.
FRIDAY, NOV. 13, 1874.
STATE NEWS.

Fires are raging in the Dismal Swamp.

Kenansville has 113 children under ten years of age.

Manning the Senior editor of the Roanoke News, is on a recreating tour the far west. His destination is Little Rock, Ark.

The Charlotte Observer says Mr. Arledge, of that city, was beaten in so brutal a manner by a side show man of the Fair that his skull was fractured.

On Thursday there were from 9 to 11,000 persons at the Charlotte Fair. The Observer reports the Fair a decided success every way.

The next General Assembly of North Carolina elected in August last will assemble on November 10th.

The Oxford Leader reports the death at his residence near that town of Elder Blount Bryan, of the Primitive Baptist church, late a citizen of Edgecombe.

Captain P. G. Alston, of Warren county, won the premium for the best cotton stalk at the Fair of the Carolinas. It was the A. D. Williams, variety.

The largest beet ever raised in North Carolina, weighing 19½ pounds, has been placed on the table of the Statesville Landmark, and raised by Mr. H. T. Pritchard, of Fredell.

The festival for the Oxford Orphan Asylum, given by the ladies of Newbern, netted over $200. Let others follow the noble example of the Newbern ladies.

A deranged man by the name of N. H. Bishop has started out from New York on a voyage along the Atlantic Coast, and is expected to arrive at Newbern the latter part of this week, that is if he does not "bring it" at Dave Jones' locker.

The Asheville Pioneer reports the most dastardly outrage of a widow woman being whipped nearly to death by her three brothers-in-law, in Swain county. She was taken from her bed at night and dragged out into the yard and unmercifully beaten. She recognized the parties, who were arrested and bound over in the sum of $200.

Asheville had a lively sensation Sunday evening last, caused by a shooting affair between Col Oscar Easmond, proprietor of the Eagle Hotel Billiard Saloon, and Charles E. Anichini, of the U. S. Secret Service. Eastmond received a shot in the left shoulder, and Anichini a severe cut on the head. It was all about a bottle of lager beer.

The Duplin Record tells of one William Stallings, colored, that sat on the railroad near Duplin's X Roads and went to sleep just in time to collide with the down mail train, but strange to say, the engine was uninjured, though Stallings expressed himself afterwards as being willing to pay and damage that the "machine" may have sustained.

The Reidsville Enterprise says: A patent has just been granted Dr. B. J. Field, of Leaksville, N. C., for an improved method of attaching artificial teeth to their plates. In the old method, the teeth are cemented to the plates, and are liable to be broken, causing the dentist considerable time and trouble to replace them. By Dr. Field's system the teeth can be removed and replaced as often as you wish in a moment of time, without injury to the teeth or plate.

Two persons were killed and several hurt in the pressure of the Lord Mayor's festival at London.

During services in the French Parish Church, Montreal, the alarm of fire was sounded and 300 people were trampled under foot, some of them fatally.

The municipal authorities of Seville have offered a reward of $10,000 for the recovery of Murillo's great painting of St. Anthony, which was stolen from the cathedral in that city.

Commissioner Gillette rendered his decision at Mobile yesterday in the Wetmore case, saying there was no evidence against the prisoners, and they were therefore honorably discharged.

The Louisiana Committee of Seventy make a formal and earnest appeal to the President for the withdrawal of troops. The petitioners claim that they carried the election and pledge themselves for peace throughout the State. They say:

"The Returning Board is to meet on the 11th of this month for the purpose of canvassing and compiling the election returns and will be assembled in the State House. We cannot but consider it extremely improper that the important civil work with which that Board is charged should be executed in the midst of bayonets of the Federal Government."

T. H. Gatlin has just received his third stock of New Fall Calicoes.

JAIL.—Sheriff Cobb has about 15 or 16 boarders in his fashionable boarding house.

CRIMINAL DOCKET.—For next Court, has already about one hundred and twenty-five cases on it.

TEMPERANCE.—The State Council, P. of T., will meet in Kingston on the 17th inst.

PLAIN DRESS-MAKING.—We refer our readers to Mrs. Melegan's card on this page.

2,000 yards new styles Side Band Calicoes, at Pender & Jenkins. nov. 5, 11.

LECTURE.—The monthly lecture in the Friends of Temperance hall takes place to-night.

ROGUES.—Seemed to have been numerous about the circus tent last Saturday night. Several persons had their horses and buggies stolen.

GOOD ADVISE.—Posters on our streets caution freemen to beware of whiskey lest it carry them back to slavery.

MUSICAL CONCERT.—The young ladies of the Female Academy will give a Musical Concert to-night. The public is respectfully invited to attend.

MUSIC.—Our city has been furnished with music of late. An old organist has been grinding his box at every door and two Italian harpists have been following in his train.

ADVERTISE.—If advertising has failed with you, try it on another tack. A good thing is worth a fair trial. If one business man finds his account in advertising why should not another.

MARKET LAW.—It will be pleasant to our citizens to learn that the market law has been so far modified as to allow chickens and eggs to be sold on the streets at all hours of the day.

By SPECIAL REQUEST.—Of a large number of citizens, Prof. Bailey has promised to repeat his children's entertainment some time next week. Due notice will be given by bills.

GIN HOUSE BURNED.—We learn that Mr. Lamb Lawrence, living some 6 or 7 miles below this place, was so unfortunate on last Sunday night as to lose his Gin House and about 13 bags of cotton. He has no doubt but it was the work of an incendiary.

T. H. Gatlin has just received his third stock of New Fall Calicoes.

DRY.—The long drought has become seriously inconvenient in some localities in our county. Many wells have dried entirely up and a large number of smaller streams have disappeared. In some places it is difficult to furnish water for the stock.

TO-DAY.—As will be seen in our advertising columns and elsewhere, to-day is the time for the meeting of the Stockholders of the Edgecombe Female Seminary. Let there be a full turn out. Remember 11 o'clock to-day at the Court House.

COMMERCE.—Money matters are brisk in consequence of the large amount of cotton going into market, and the Bank of New Hanover, which seems to have gained the entire confidence of this community, is kept busy.

CONSULT YOUR COMFORT.—And have your shoes made to fit. In another column will be found the advertisement of Oecola Doggett, who informs our citizens of the superiority of his stock and his ability to give satisfaction in all work in his line.—Read his advertisement and give him a trial.

CHURCH.—As usual Old John Robinson drew an immense crowd in our town. The exhibition was good and the display upon the street the best we have ever seen. One of his clowns is said to be a graduate of Chapel Hill, adding another to the list of celebrities turned out by our State University.

BOA-CONSTRUCTOR.—One of these terrible serpents belonging to Robinson's menagerie made his escape last Saturday and could not be found before the circus left. He was, however, seen by a colored man here a few days ago coiled up under a house and shot and captured. The reptile is still alive and efforts are made to prevent the wound from proving fatal.

EDGECOMBE RACE.—We presume there is no county in the State where the Radical party has been more extreme in its denunciation of white people and common decency than in Edgecombe. What must be their feelings then when they read of the glorious result of last Tuesday week, and see their power so rapidly slipping from them. When their power is gone and nothing is left but their shame, how pitiful will be their condition.

PERSONAL.—We notice among the visitors attending the Baptist State Convention, held in Wilmington last week, J. J. Riggs, Esq., formerly of this State and county, and for many years in the commission business in Norfolk, Va., but who has more recently become associated with the commission house of J. I. Middleton & Co., of Baltimore, a house of large capital and an extensive Southern trade. We wish him much success in his new connection.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—The 4th Quarterly Meeting for the Tarboro Circuit N. C. Conference, will be held in Tarboro next Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 14th and 15th. Rev. Dr. Closs, P. E. of the Washington District will occupy the pulpit. The public generally are invited to attend.
C. C. DOSSON, P. C.

A few more of those fine Walnut Bedsteads at $12, to be found at J. E. Simmons', the Cabinet-Maker and Undertaker, Tarboro, Oct. 28.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—It is very necessary that the Executive Committee of our party in Edgecombe should be thoroughly organized and ready for work. To this end, as well as for things to be discussed at the meeting, a meeting of the members of the committee is called to take place on next Tuesday. Friends, our allies are active and have been victorious, let us see that our squadrons are ready whenever the bugle horn blows the onslaught.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.—The Eastern Medical Association held its semi-annual meeting last week at Newbern. The following officers were elected:

For President—H. O. Hyatt.
For Secretary—P. W. Wiley.
For Treasurer—J. M. Hadley.
For Orator—James F. Long.
For Vice Presidents—H. W. Harter and John S. Taft.

Goldsboro was selected as the place for the next meeting, which will be held the first Tuesday in February next.

EDGECOMBE FEMALE SEMINARY.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Edgecombe Female Seminary last Spring it was agreed to postpone all action in the matter until some time this Fall, when a full meeting of the stockholders might be had and their prompt attention secured. Pursuant to this action of the Board of Directors a meeting of the stockholders of the Edgecombe Female Seminary is hereby called, to take place at the Court House in the town of Tarboro on Friday, Nov. 13th. It is very important that there should be a full attendance. By order of the President, M. WEDDELL, Sec'y.

CASWELL CO., N. C., Oct. 25th, 1874.

E. R. Stamps, Esq., Ed. Enquirer-Southerner.

I have been requested by our State Executive Committee, P. of T., to visit the Eastern portion of the State for the purpose of exemplifying the unwritten word of our Order to the Granges; also to address the farmers in these counties in which there are no Granges, upon the origin and objects of our Order, and to organize Granges if desired. Will you be so kind as to announce through your paper the following appointments:

Halifax, Halifax county, Nov. 10th.
Tartar, Edgecombe county, Nov. 13th.
Wilmington, Martin county, Nov. 14th.
Plymouth, Washington county, Nov. 18th.
Windsor, Bertie county, Nov. 21st.
Edenton, Chowan county, Nov. 24th.
Winton, Hertford county, Nov. 28th.
Gatesville, Gates county, Nov. 30th.
J. B. SMITH,
Special Lecturer, Eastern Carolina.

TAR RIVER SECTION OF NORTH CAROLINA.—RIVER OF HEALTH.—Tar river rises in Person and Granville counties, pursues a southeasterly course, passing by Tarboro, Greenville and Washington, enters the Pamlico Sound. Below Washington it expands into a bay, and is called Pamlico river. It is navigable for vessels drawing nine feet of water to Washington, a distance of forty miles, and for small steam boats, fifty miles further up to Tarboro.

WASHINGTON is on the north side of Tar river, and a place of considerable importance, and large trade was formerly done here, with all the up country, but of late the trade has concentrated, and the place controls only that of the counties adjacent. This is the county seat of Beaufort county. This county has some very fine land, which when cleared and cultivated produces from fifty to one hundred bushels of corn, or from four to five hundred pounds of lint cotton. Ascending the river, the next important town is GREENVILLE, the county seat of Pitt county, which is situated on the bank of Tar river, twenty-three miles above Washington, and twenty-five miles below Tarboro. The soil of this county is generally productive, suitable for cotton, corn, peas, fruits, &c. The natural growth of timber is red and post oak, long leaf pine, &c. Proceeding up the river, the next important place is TARBORO, which is on the west side of Tar river, is the county seat of Edgecombe county, and one of the largest and most important towns in this section of the State. It is improving, and has every prospect of being a place of considerable size. Boats run on the Tar river from Washington to this point, and here is a branch road of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, which connects with the main line at at which point the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad crosses Tar river, and where is located one of the largest cotton factories in the State, and the only one in this section. The first cotton factory erected in the State was built at the falls of this river in 1818. The county of Edgecombe produces more cotton than any county in the State, and as a general rule, farmers are in good condition and fast recuperating from the losses they sustained during the war. The river then runs through New Hanover county, not far from Nashville, its county seat, which is about forty-five miles from Raleigh thence to LOUISBURG, the county seat of Franklin county, which is a very pleasant town, nicely located, and is the centre of a good farming district. The Tar river then is crossed by the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, between Franklin and Kittrell's, and in Person and Granville counties is formed by several creeks. This river has carried us from the fisheries of the east, through large truck farms, into cotton plantations, and landed us in the section where the best tobacco is raised in the world. It is a very inviting and interesting country.

The above is from the pen of our friend, W. J. Woodward, Esq., correspondent of the New York South. Mr. Woodward is a good writer, and locates his subjects admirably.

RECONSTRUCTION.—True reconstruction has commenced when the North begins to realize some of the wrongs it has done us and endeavors to amend them. There are not a few instances like that given in the letter below:

LOCKPORT, Nov. 2nd, 1874.
DEAR BRETHREN:—In 1863, while Gen. Foster was moving from Newbern to Tarboro, we passed through a town. I believe its name was Williamston. After a little fighting the place fell into our hands, and soon after some of our soldiers commenced the work of destruction in robbing and burning the buildings. I was with the army at the time, but thank God I took no part in the uncalculated and wicked work. Among other places plundered, and I believe burned, was a Masonic Lodge which you all, I suppose, only too well remember. Here a short time ago I was visiting a brother soldier who was also in the same raid. During our conversation we talked over the Tarboro raid as we used to call it, and the burning of the village, he said yes, I have something to remember that occasion and he thereupon presented a Secretary's Jewel, bearing the following inscription: "Concord Chapter No. 6." He gave it to me saying it was of no use to him, and this is my reason for writing to you. The Jewel is now in my possession, and if you wish it, please write me how to send it, &c. Write under seal of () Lodge or Chapter. If you don't care in particular for it, I would very much like to keep it, but if you do wish it, write me and I will gladly send it to its rightful owners.—Thank God the great war is ended, for our troops done many wrongs and uncalculated outrages in your country.

Fraternally yours, &c.,
Robert Gagar,
